VPI Joins Payment Card Industry Security Vendor Alliance (PCI SVA)

Camarillo, Calif. – April 9, 2008 – VPI (Voice Print International, Inc., <http://www.VPI-corp.com>), a leading innovator and provider of integrated interactions recording and contact center workforce optimization (WFO) solutions, today announced that it has joined the Payment Card Industry Security Vendor Alliance (PCI SVA). The PCI SVA works with the retail and payment card industries to develop efficient and cost-effective ways to achieve compliance with the PCI Data Security Standards (PCI DSS), a global benchmark intended to improve security throughout the entire payment card transaction process.

“Whether our customers are legally required to record their communications, choose to record for quality assurance purposes, or need to enhance their business intelligence, we are dedicated to providing the highest level of security along with unprecedented capabilities to improve everyday business practices,” said Chris Morrissey, vice president of sales and marketing at VPI. “PCI Data Security Standards impact many of our customers, particularly those in the retail and financial services industry, and it’s imperative for these organizations to not only provide excellent customer service, but to ensure the protection of sensitive information while maintaining the highest level of security. By joining the PCI SVA, we will be able to stay up-to-date with the very latest developments and changes in Security Standards and ensure that our solutions continue to meet the needs of our customers.”

PCI SVA members, all with strong experience in delivering PCI compliance solutions to thousands of customers, leverage their combined knowledge to support the objectives of the PCI Security Standards Council – securing sensitive data processed by merchant partners with best-of-breed PCI DSS solutions that address the needs of system integrators and business users.
